EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S NOTE . . .

Happy New Year. Wow 2020!

Many of us will get started on some New Year's resolutions, no doubt. Let's hope we keep them realistic and achievable.

One of our family goals took my wife and I to the Social Security office just a couple days before Christmas. Somehow, in this new year, I will hit that magical age of becoming a Social Security recipient. Although, the office was full of people, our wait time was only 20 minutes without an appointment. The agent was plenty helpful and pleasant. After laying out a couple of options we took option one which protects both of us and will certainly be helpful as I take on my new roll and work part-time in 2020.

The agent was especially nice when she said we look so young and healthy. Of course, implied was the ending of that "for your age." We will take the compliment anyway. What was obvious of the others waiting in the Social Security office was the younger age of the recipients or potential recipients who had disabilities. It makes us humble and grateful that we have been healthy enough to reach retirement age without any government assistance.

You hear the phrase "age is a state of mind," and I do believe that. But as 2020 begins and we receive our first Social Security check, it's a bit sobering. Will it somehow change us? Hope not. As we dig into 2020, I hope to continue to stretch my mind, body, and perhaps most important, my relationship with the Almighty.

I hope all of you have that opportunity to stretch as well in this new year, yet always being thankful to God for all the life you have.

Happy New Year!

Vito Genna

Thanks So Much . . .

“From when our dad needed your care to our mom’s recent passing, we have trusted you to care for our parents for about 20 years. We are truly grateful to you for all the care you have poured into them. Thank you so much for helping them through this most difficult time. You have been a blessing to them as well as us, their children.”

Very gratefully yours,

A Light Shines in the Darkness...

We have arrived once again at one of the most anticipated seasons of the year. Lights and wreaths, Christmas goodies, familiar carols, family gatherings, gifts, and the list goes on. Yet with high expectations also comes the reality that our expectations are never quite met. We are stressed and exhausted with the never-ending lists of things to be done, we take turns feeling under the weather, and we experience sadness as we remember the people and traditions that are no longer in our life.

Thankfully, our Scripture accompanies us through these times, reminding us that we are not the only ones to walk through dark times and we are not the only ones to wait anxiously for the time the crooked ways will be made straight again. The God who never forgets or forsakes is on the move. Can you perceive it?

May you be open to gratitude this holiday season for all of the blessings that surround you. And in those dark times, may you remember the Christ who came into our world to reveal the light of God, which shines through the darkness. A light the darkness can not overcome.
